Coordination of Efforts

- There are multiple inter-related efforts that should be talking to each other and perhaps coordinating to some extent, including the Attribute Release effort under Steering/TAC and the work that the AAC is doing on Baseline Expectations.
- Steering and TAC efforts are about encouraging more sites to release attributes.
- AAC work is about process around concerns with attribute release and compliance
- If the attribute release 2.0 group has a timeline, the AAC should be aware of that
- The chairs of each of the groups should talk and understand each other's roadmaps
