

Certificate Service Informational Webinar June 29

blocked URL

An informational webinar about the InCommon Certificate Service will take place Wednesday, June 29, at 3 p.m. EDT. The program will include a high-level overview from Jack Suess, chair of the InCommon Steering Committee, and we'll hear from two participating institutions.

Unparalleled cost savings is the number one reason to consider the InCommon Certificate Service. Higher Education Institutions large and small are reporting the ability to issue unlimited certificates for one annual fee with substantial savings. One large state university system and current subscriber, anticipates annual savings of $325,000, and many large individual campuses report savings of $75,000-$90,000 per year.

You can see additional information about the certificate service and you can register for the webinar today (it's free) and we will send you complete information.