Free the Attributes! Attribute Release, Scalable Consent, and User Convenience

When did you last take a look at your attribute release policies? How can you meet the requirements of data stewards and the benefits of relaxed attribute release? What is on the horizon with scalable consent and how will that help?

We'll touch these and other questions in the next IAM Online, "Free the Attributes! Attribute Release, Scalable Consent, and User Convenience," Wednesday, April 13, 2016, at 2 pm ET. Our speakers will discuss their journeys toward relaxed policies that allow for the release of a small set to some applications, including the Research and Scholarship category of service providers. We'll also discuss the scalable consent project, with the aim of providing informed, revocable consent, attribute-by-attribute.
